【the reason】

From the earlier of the 21st (Thursday), the following information was displayed in the CoinBene site.

This was unexpected as our company.

This content is very similar to when you no longer can use the Japanese in the other exchanges.

As we have many Japanese holders,

Whether Japanese can continue trading without problems without fail,

In order to dispel the serious concerns, we have held discussions from that there is a need for sufficient confirmation to CoinBene for the above-mentioned contents.

However, please be assured that listing on CoinBene will not change.

We will announce the listing date after consultation with CoinBene is over.

SWET token can be sent to CoinBene after CoinBene listing.

Listing will be held between 0 pm and 15 pm Japan time on listing date.

For everyone holding SWET token, it will be postponed after announcement notice and I think that it will be a suspicion, but we appreciate your understanding.
